Thank you for considering Hostetler Construction! We've been involved in Inland Empire Residential Construction for 3 generations, so we know how to make your visions a reality at a reasonable price, and in a professional manner. We strive for excellence and transparency every step of the way, to ensure you are comfortable with the people you allow into your house, and into your lives, during your remodel!

We understand choosing a Contractor to work with is one of the most stressful decisions you can make. So we've created this reference sheet to (hopefully) help you understand a bit more about our company.

I've also attached our insurance and license information (above). For added safety, it is suggested you follow this link https://www.cslb.ca.gov/onlineservices/checklicenseII/checklicense.aspx
To check the status of any California license to make sure the contractor you are considering is fully licensed and insured.

Frequently Asked Questions

Once you start a project- do you "see it through"?

Absolutely! We use state of the art scheduling software to ensure we have the right crew members available every step of the way. We pride ourselves in achieving our goal of moving the job forward every day. A common compliment we get from the neighbors are "I see a truck there every day"

How "hands on" is the owner of the company?

Our owner, Bryan Hostetler, is the sole salesman, estimator, and lead project manager at Hostetler Construction. This means the person you meet on day 1 will be the person you work with all the way to the finish line. He coordinates daily with our skilled staff of project managers- Parker and Eric to make sure our jobs are being executed correctly and efficiently every day! He regularly visits jobsites and sends weekly emails summarizing progress each week. We believe this helps keep our values of diligence, honesty, and thoughtfulness shining bright.

Do you just hire random sub-contractors or "Home Depot Laborers" to do the work once you get the job?

Absolutely not! Hostetler Construction currently has 15 full time employees, as well as a team of dedicated subcontractors, committed to executing our work scope. This gives us the personal touch and schedule control we believe is essential to a well-run project. I guarantee each boot on the ground will be a strong representative to the values I have outlined above.
